@ Andrei : thanks

I am not really clear !

I applied to

International Business Management
180cr, Day-time, 100%
Study programme
Normal teaching
Mälardalen Univerity,
Västerås

I have received a message :You have been granted an exemption from the basic requirements for this course/program. The decision applies to this term.

SG : BG
MR 16,20

I wonder if you can tell me What this message means !

That is a normal (day-time, 100%, 180credits) programme, which means you will start 1st of September, which means autumn!

@all

Guys, thanks for your strive.
As you see, this is the 3rd page for comments on Studera.

I have to apologize for the way things went - first of all I didn't expect such a turn-over from a blog page to a "forum chain of comment-driven pages"

End of April will bring a nice change hopefully.

Best of luck!

For whom who applied Jonkoping this term that i'm pretty sure the UTL stands for Foreign Student and 8xx for Business as my 2 options are marked: SG: UTL - MR: 848.

Still each school have their own code for SG and MR and there is nothing to do with studera.nu with this.

Please contact ur univrs for ur information.

I think it's better to check ur e-mail cos' 2 of my friends already got acceptances from Uppsala which were sent directly from the school even when the status on studera marked as “application in process”

They said they were doing this because of the delays with the administration and other problems. 😊

Yes the one i received notice from was my first choice. In studera is still says ‘Application in process’ while other i havereceived MR. So don’t fret! We all know the system is behind, but just because its not showing up on studera, doesnt mean the school aren’t looking at it.

I’m not sure but I assume that since I received admission to my first choice I will not receive any other? (In canada you can receive admission to all your choices, the ranking is only done so that they know how likely you are to accept your offer of admission.)

Anyone applying to Lund should pre-register for housing here <http://cfsrv10.cfadm.lu.se/apply/preregistration.htm>

You can also pre-register for the international mentor program and the Swedish language/culture course.

- Edit Comment

By: fernando on 20080404

@fernando

I think it would be too early to apply for this, first we have to get an indication if we got an admission or not. If every one starts filling up this form and most of the people don't really get to go to LU then it would be an administrative overhead sorting the list.

I applied to 5 Master courses in Fall 2008 and Jonkoping University is one of the Uni that I enrolled into. Its policy allows me to sent my Ielts no later than 15.March 2008 while the others requires the deadline for application is 1.Feb 2008. the facts that, I got the overall 5.5 at the first exam so that I sent all the other related documents to studera before 1.Feb 2008 but my Ielts. Spontaneously, I wrote the letter to these Universities and got the response that I would apply english result no later than 15, March,2008.Moreover, I took another exam and got 6 for the second one. Currently, my second Ielts result also came to studrea address 2 weeks ago but my status on studera still has been UNQUALIFIED because of specific document (means Ielts result) not to be fulfilled.

My situation is extremely faint no matter how hard HJ Admission letter tried to persuade me. they advised me being patient but I can't.

Please tell me what i should do?

thank you so much.

Hi everyone ,

I am a computer engineering graduate , with a CGPA of 3.87 , summa cuma lumde distinction . My IELTS band score is 7. I sent my documents well before time , and I guess it reached them by first week of february .

I got the confirmation too , that , they recived my application.

I have applied in 6 subjects in KTH ,namely - wireless,internetworking , system on chip design , information & communication security and 2 in chalmers.

But, still today , my status says , “application in process”

at 18:20:13

@imran

Just wait, eventually the admissions officers will look at your documents and emit their assesment. If your documents arrived on time, you've got nothing to fear. Especially with a summa cum laude.

Many more people on this blogorum (blog + forum :P) are also waiting for the “application in process” to turn into MR’s..

Talking via im with vick yesterday he told me he had noticed that they seem to update statuses every Thursday. I think that may be true, because it seems to me that whenever I receive a change in my status it's always Thursday.. odd, very odd.

@kendu

Every non-EU citizen will need a “Residence permit for studies at university or college”, that takes between 8 and 10 weeks to be processed, and you need to have it stamped on your passport before arriving in Sweden.

Look up the Swedish embassy page specific to your country:

<http://swedenabroad.com/>

Anyway the general requirements for non-EU people to get a student are:

- Sufficient funds for the whole programme, either in a grant (scholarship, etc.) or in a savings (debit) account in your name. According to the embassy page specific to México, only scholarships and debit accounts are accepted, no inversions, nothing else. By “sufficient funds”, it is stated that you need the money for the whole of your studies minus 2 months for each year (i.e. 20 months if your master programme lasts 2 years), and for each year the Swedish embassy calculates a total of 73,000 SEK, (146,000 SEK for 2 years ~ 25,000 USD approx, pending fluctuations). A good page for calculating how much it is in your home country's currency is <http://www.xe.com/ucc/convert.cgi> .

- Admission letter from a Swedish university. Since no formal letter will be sent over the mail this year according to the semi-automatic replies most people have received after sending e-mails to studera, I suppose a printout or something of that sort will replace the admission letter.

- Medical insurance if your studies last less than a year. If your studies last more than a year, I read somewhere that you can register with their social services. Still, I think it's a good idea to have medical insurance because some Swedish embassy pages seem to differ and also in case you slip on the ice when getting off the plane or on your way to register with their social services or whatever 😊

Thanks a lot. "Akademiska poäng

I urvalsgruppen AP konkurrerar du som redan har läst på universitet eller högskola.

För anmälan till vårterminen 2008 görs meritvärderingen utifrån antalet avklarade poäng enligt det gamla poängsystemet. Det betyder att minst 5 och max 150 av de högskolepoäng som du har vid sista anmälningdag, kommer att ingå i ditt meritvärde.

Urvalsgruppen AP är vanlig vid antagningen till kurser. "

here goes the translated text in ENGLISH

“Academic points (AP)

In the selection group AP competes you that already has read on universities or college.

For announcement to the spring term 2008 is done the qualification value on the basis of the number over points according to the the old point system.

It means that least 5 and maximum 150 of the college points that you have wide last report day, will be included in your qualification worth.

The selection group AP is the common wide admission to courses.”

Dear Bassel, i am right, please open this page and read first line below APPLICATION heading. It is mentioned that all no european students should send their documents directly to the university while at the bottom para it is written for european students to apply through STUDERA. This was the reasong why i didnt applied and if you and other friends have applied through STUDERA then i would like to have their interesting comments as well after having a look at following UMEA univeristy website.

<http://www.umu.se/phmed/epidemi/utbildning/mpg-applications.htm>

and dear Bassel i am right at my place.

@ al

It is mentioned at following link that all non european applicants will be informed before 15th April thats why all of my friends and related people have gotten replies from admission office but possibly they are mailing and you may get one till 15th April. They are not following studera for non european students as far as my knowledge is concerned with following proving link:

<http://www.umu.se/phmed/epidemi/utbildning/mph-applications.htm>

@ All

One of my friend applied late that is on 3rd Feb and his documents reached sweden on 18th feb (again late). His application status showing Application in process (with late application mark in red).

So i would suggest you all that be calm and follow this rule “WAIT AND HOPE FOR THE BEST” but if your aim is to passing your time by discussion and calming yourself by having comments about your queries then its ok otherwise i dont think that anybdy’s comments are perfect in this blog.

Pray for me as well, requesting all of you.

Take care and my prayere are with you all so that we could meet in sweden with best possible and loving relationship.

HI

(plz tell me wat are ur comments about it) i have one question to u all that my documents was received on 1st of February by Studera by my status yet not changed

it's says "NOT PROCESSED"

when i call studera they said don't worry be patient and wait till 29th.

so guys what should i do now. because i think every one of u got " APPLICATION IN PROCESS"

what about me??

am i in game
or out

@Sepideh: No, the only message displayed at the bottom of my account is one saying 'You have indicated that you have applied for a course/programme at <http://www.studera.nu> before. Unfortunately, there is no record of your previous application in our system. Blah-blah-blah.'
[which is not a problem: I ticked this box by mistake and informed Studera about that, just like lanjoe9 did]
So far I did not receive any other 'real' messages.

Studera received most of my docs (incl. TOEFL scoresheet and a copy of my diploma) long before the deadline. However, my official transcript reached them on Feb 14-15.

I think it has taken them so long to merge, scan in and verify (someone mentioned that they do this) all of my docs because I sent them in 3 separate packages.

If you submitted all your docs on time but your IELTS/TOEFL results reached them later, your application is still likely to be considered, depending on the university's policies. I recommend that you contact both Studera (via the portal or by phone) and your first-priority programme admissions and ask.

@miki

Yeah right our documents reached studera on same day i.e. 13th Feb and we received the confirmation email on same day i.e. 12th March. I have called studera many times to inquire about my application status but they are saying that wait for the final results and don't pay attention to the status before 29th April.

@Shafi: Hey fellow, the key is r'n'w (relax and wait) - go hiking or bicycling, or probably scuba-diving. At that, make sure to leave your wi-fi laptop home so it does not disturb your rest 😊

You can rely on Studera. If you submitted all the needed docs and they confirmed that there are no errors with processing them, feel free to forget the <http://www.studera.nu> address completely until ~April 29.

@King

I don't think you should blame National Admissions Office for whatever problems you are experiencing right now. You have to understand that they received an overwhelming number of applications this year. Moreover, this is the first time that they are implementing this system for all universities in Sweden. You should also try to see things in a positive note. Costs are minimized as you only need to send one application package for all the programs you are interested in. At the same time, slots are more readily available as once a student qualifies for one program, his/her slot for the other programs will be readily available for others.

@King: hey, stop this.

You behave as if Studera owed you something, but in fact we owe them really much as they provide so many students from developing (as well as developed) countries an opportunity to study in Sweden for free.

Processing half of a million applications for some 2 months must be a hell lot of work. And I'm sure that at least half of these application packages are as confused as mine 😊
Plus, keep in mind that the Swedish culture (and administration) are based on perfect order and accuracy. This way the system must be as optimized as possible at this (first) stage of its development.

offtopic

I just imagined what if any of the CIS governments were to implement something like the VHS National Admissions. Hehe, I bet it would be a bureaucratic monster demanding the applicants to submit 100 stupid references, perfectly corrupted, absolutely non-transparent, totally messed and slow as the evolution of dinosaurs.

What is your second choice programme?

I've been rated 100 in CompSci in Göteborg U, and "100,0" in Game AI, in BTH. We (the people I know through msn) are trying to figure out what these numbers mean, but honestly we've got next to no idea.

The final result will be given by the 29th of April.

- Edit Comment

By: al on 20080406
at 2:07:13

@al

I doubt it, it seems to me that they keep a very specific schedule. However, I've seen updates happening during weekends. I think that's the only time they work out of schedule. Still, that may change if they feel their time is starting to run out, I suppose 😊

I find the central admissions system a good idea with an improvable (i.e. "can be improved" 😊) implementation. However, this is their first try, and even if they seem slow, they're actually doing lots of work. I'm sure that if we suggest them ways to make it better, it will be much, much better next year.

And "king", please stop it now. You're not being constructive, this blogorum is for helping each other. There are many better places for flame wars (IRC is much more fun, guaranteed or your money back 😊).

- Edit Comment

By: lanjoe9 on 20080406

at 2:33:06

@al

I don't think they work during weekends 😊 Don't forget that Studera (VHS) only handles the scanning process as well as supervises the whole process, but rating is given by unis, and people working there do not work during weekends. So, no status changes during weekends. If there are any, I guess it's due to some kind of system update.

Did your status change?

- Edit Comment

By: hemmers on 20080406
at 14:12:10

@King

I apologize my self if I showed some kind of attitude and wish you the very best as well, this couple of months have been the most stressful months in my whole life "not just me" but I'm still keeping it together.

My application package was perfectly prepared and ready even before the application period started "dec 1st", by dec 15th I received confirmation that my documents have already reached Sweden and ever since one week unqualified, exception, next week "app in process" and so on and so forth...

It's been over 4 weeks now that there is no single change in my application status, but hey it's the first implementation of this centralized system and trust me, it cost millions of dollars to implement such a system, "Wall-mart invested over 300 million dollars to centralize its database" and it takes even greater effort to make it perfectly aligned and updated when you have something like 50 000 applications from all around the world. furthermore, if Sweden can not do it, nobody could, and I'm pretty confident that everything is going to be fine by the deadline, and eventually there are going to be nice improvements for the the next years to come.

Patience, patience, and patience. good luck to you one more time, hopefully everything will be all right to all of us and all this stress will be worth it.

it seems that KTH & CTH were two of the universities receiving more quantity of applications.

I applied for two MSc's in CTH and one of them still remain with the status unchanged: "Application in Process" (Electric Power Engineering).

However, the other one has already been changed, probably because I didn't fulfill the requirements needed (Sustainable Energy).

- Edit Comment

By: Levi on 20080406
at 19:08:49

the problem with orebro university got resolved. however, the status hasn't yet changed. the issue as I understood it was that the admission office print portion of the documents and hand them to the admissions committee. in my case not all the necessary documents were printed. only 6 papers out of 36 papers of the "syllabus and subject description document" were handed to the admissions committee the first time.

The other update is that I got unqualified in two programs in BTH, but this time it was fair 😊

- Edit Comment

By: Bassel on 20080406

@ levi

Hi, I was nearly going to do the same mistake, "sustainable energy" program is not related to electrical power engineering and it's somehow about environment (is it??) that's why you got unqualified

Gosh, 36 pages? Does Studera really require course description in _such_ detail?

I think my 2-page transcript (course names + grades + GPA) should work OK. At least it worked fine in 2007 as well as this year in my 'pre-Studera' application.

- Edit Comment

By: Postmodernist on 20080406

@Postmodernist & Bassel

Same here... I only provided a Transcript of Records which here is a list of courses with its grades as well. If I have to provide the course description for each course, it can them a week to scan it 😊

By the way... they should be able to get that information on-line (checking your university). At least, all EU's universities should have this information because of the Erasmus agreements.

- Edit Comment

By: William on 20080406
at 21:56:46

@Postmodernist & William

probably the case is different with me because my transcripts doesn't contain indicative subjects' names. for example all math subjects are named math(1), math(2)...etc. so a separate description document is important in my case.

I still have some time left to their deadlines and I hope to get an acceptance from them there for your answer will help me a lot.

- Edit Comment

By: aussie on 20080407
at 7:41:42

I have a BSc, MSc(Tech) and PhD from the University of Waikato. I'm applying to Lund University in Sweden to do a Masters in Geographic Information Systems by distance learning. I can also do a distance learning Masters in GIS through Massey University. Having already got three degrees in New Zealand I wanted to broaden my horizons and step outside the square - which is why I applied to Lund. If I don't get in, I will do the Massey programme. Not that any of this answers your questions!!!

Massey University is not one of the top ranked universities in NZ (neither is Waikato for that matter). I personally don't think any uni's in NZ are "looked down upon". I've never placed much weight on NZ Uni rankings myself - I think looking at the department you would study in is a better guide.

In NZ we have this thing call PBRF - its basically the way universities get funded by the government based on their research strength. You can see the overall ranking of NZ universities on this basis here:

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Performance_Based_Research_Fund

As part of this process departments get ranked against eachother which would reveal, for example, the top engineering department in NZ. In 2006 (I think this is the most recent data available) the engineering rankings were 1. Canterbury 2. Auckland 3. Otago & Massey (tied).

I would imagine that a Masters from Massey would be as good as from any NZ university for getting into a PhD programme. PhD admission would also depend on your course grades and the quality and grade of your Masters thesis.

If you are talking about staying on in NZ to do a PhD - there are funds around. I did my PhD on a paltry $1000 per month University-funded Scholarship. There are alot more opportunites around nowadays though and I would imagine with engineering (depending on what type) that you could get some seriously good industry sponsorship (I am a firm believer that no one should have to pay to do a PhD!!)

My advice would be to take a close look at the departments in question - their staff and research programmes in terms of what courses you are interested in and what you might like to write a thesis on. Think about what you want to do when you finish the Masters/PhD. If you're after international exposure then maybe Sweden is your best bet.

I was just thinking the other day that if I had known years ago about the free education on offer in Sweden I would have seriously looked at going there to do my first Masters (and/or PhD).

Hope this helps. Sorry Andrei for taking up so much space!!!!

Sustainable energy is strongly related to electric power engineering, more than you think, hehehe. In fact, it is only worthy doing if we have deep changes on our electric power systems' policies.

If the universities are rejecting the students from electrical engineering from this MSc, so they're rejecting those more able to undertake this project.

Energy is the engine for sustainable development. Dispel urgent environmental problems is just part of it, and a result of better use of energy.

They should be looking for electrical engineers.

Get a job or continue master's in your country, then next year you'll have great experience and more chances to be admitted. Meanwhile, you can practice English and study deeper subjects in your major.

But I hope you'll be admitted this year 😊

@Niazi
Well if you've got your degree now, I don't think there's any problem with you at all, just wait for them to tell you whether you've been "conditionally admitted" or not.

If you are admitted, well, you've got your degree already, haven't you? You've fulfilled the requirements already. I'm still doing thesis but I am doing good, I'm almost finished with the operational part and starting the written part 😊

@khan

Plan B: Spain 😊 (and then Plan C: Erasmus). In fact plan B was my plan A, because in Spain we have the Erasmus agreements, and it's pretty much easier to get the chance to study abroad with a Erasmus grant (and you get a grant) than applying like we are all doing now.

But... when I thought about it, I said... what the hell! Let's apply like I was going to do here! And here I am...

If I don't get accepted, I'll study the MSc here in Spain, and I'll do second year within the Erasmus agreement (requirements for a Erasmus are pretty easy to have... just a minimum language level and a minimum of passed courses)

So this is my plan b, I just modified/adjusted my previous plan a 😊

@ All.

Today i got call from sweden. I am worried who may call me from sweden at my landline. I never gave my landline number to anybody except STUDERA (where it was mandatory to give our landline number). I wana ask you people if you have received calls from STUDERA or any university.

Tomorrow i will call back at that number.

I am still confused about caller, I checked my status but there is no change, and it's still same i.e “Application in process”.

Any idea?

That's weird... I thought they used to use e-mail. If they call at the landline I provided, it's gonna be funny because I'm the only one at home who can speak and understand English, so if I'm not at home, and my mother/father takes the phone... they are gonna have a very interesting conversation 😊

They called at 01:53pm (swedish 8:53am).

My respectable friends i never applied at Umea university.

I have applied at following unis:

Kerolinska (4 programmes)

Lund (1 programe)

Uppsala (1 programe)

- Edit Comment

By: confused on 20080408

at 11:04:48

@al & Levi,

Well, I think that program, Sustainbale Energy, is partly about the Electric Engineering, though has little business with power transmission but it is quite concerned about power generation, like solar, nuclear, and some other traditional stuff. Of course, a larger sense of the research could be engaged in, such as heating, ventilation, air-conditioning, and much more.

So I don't think it's right that program should take this as the ground to reject an applicant with EE background.

@Confused

MBA is a master programme taught strictly in English, strongly connected with Business Administration subjects and is not equivalent to MSc, which can be taught in any language.

Beside that MBA requires at least 2 years of serious working experience (no internships or entry level jobs) and GMAT. Most MSc do not have such tough requirements.

We regret to inform you that you have not been admitted to the programme/s you applied for, because your application does not meet with the requirements for admission. You have not provided proof of satisfying the specific course requirements for the programme chosen. We had a large number of very strong applications and the competition was high. Hello everyone,

Only this morning I discovered this site, I must say that i'm sorry that I did not find it before since it seems that many others share my experiences! I am from the Caribbean, Trinidad to be exact.

Well here is my 'story'. I applied for 7 courses, like most I got 14 messages which appear blank to me. My application status is Application in progress, a few weeks ago my 6th choice had a SG = MA08 and MR = 500 (this is for Vaxjo university) ... then last week that was removed to application in progress, then yesterday it was added back with the same SG and MR.

I still have no clue what MR rating is, and reading on this blog did not make it any clearer 😞 ... so that's my contribution. I guess we just wait and see how it goes!

Regards and have a great day all!

I'm applying for the International Communication master program in Jönköping. My selection group is UTL (which means I'm a foreign student, I suppose) and my Merit Rating is 929.

Merci beaucoup! 😊

- Edit Comment

By: Elle on 20080409
at 6:32:49

@Elle: They will consider the late applications only if some places on the programmes are not taken by 'non-late' applicants for any reasons 😊

Regarding the MR statuses, I think sometimes they reflect your education background plus work experience relevant to the programme.

For example, I suppose my MR status in Malmo, International Migration (180) must indicate that I have 180 ECTS Bachelor's in a relevant field.

I got something that i would like to share as it may help you to reduce some confusion (not all but some)
I have received SG and HR for three of my program(out of eight) till now. Last I received today and I noticed,, Yesterday its status turned to 'Canceled' from (Applicaion in process) then after 5 hrs when I checked again it turned to 'not processed' and when I checked today morning it was SG: DA and MR: 999 ,,,,,,,, @mbr

I would recommend that you wait for a day or so and donot be panic,, hopefully some thing better is coming

Mmm... well... at least I know why is that when that happens to me as well (they could message you with the reason... instead of saying just "Not processed").
But, check again tomorrow, because read what Fahan said about his application...

Argh! I hate this lack of information, I'd rather they gave some real information than this (or just no information)

Also got one more thing to discuss ,, when i tried to enter login-password in studera it not worked almost 3 to 4 times,, then automatically redirected me to swedish page of login,, After login I found explanation of SG is also giving at end of my swedish app page ,, as you can get traslation from some swedish dictionary or be patient or learn swedish 😊

AP - Akademiska poäng DA - Direktantagning GRP1 - Urvalsgrupp 1

But no explanation of MR and its range
(what i tried is AP: Academic Points, DA: Direct? and GRP1:Group1Of?)

I thing, StudEra is working hard to fullfill their commitment and proving that they are not afraid of such a lot of application.

Remember that every Messenger - Yahoo, ICQ, etc. - allows you to send a message to another person even without adding that person to your list.

GRP1 - Urvalsgrupp 1

Statistik finns för aktuell termin, för tidigare terminer och både för urval 1 och urval 2. Du kan söka fram antal sökande, antal antagna och lägsta antagningspoäng.

You can find statistic for actual semester for previous semesters for both selection 1 and selection 2. You can search from total applications, total accepted and lowest accepted point.

Antagningsstatistiken finns på VHS webbplats: <http://vhs.se/templates/Page.aspx?id=1442>
You find acceptance statistic under VHS website

And here: <http://vhs.se/templates/Page.aspx?id=1443> you find statistics for previous years for different programs for selection (urval) round 1 and 2

You can find the statistic for the actual semester for previous semesters for both selection 1 and selection 2 (that is why i think that there are 2 selection rounds). You can search for total applied, total selected and lowest accepted point.

Antagningsstatistiken finns på VHS webbplats.
You can find statistics in vhs website.

here you find statistics for the spring semester.

But here I think it is more interesting as you can find numbers of previous years:

May I suggest that we wait to the 17th or 29th April for final word on our application? Think we have all stressed over this enough, just a few weeks more and frankly there is nothing more we can do at this stage. One can easily go into panic mode when reading some of these comments too 😊 ...

It is nerve wrecking to look at the site several times a day, perhaps studera method of admission is not the best but again we have no say in it.

Hang in there guys - the end is near, and remember that all things do work out for good 😊

Please dont make your generalizations about a ppl based on a single interaction, such generalizations are always un-objective and based on prejudice and personal biases, let us all stay +ve and treat each other with respect and dignity, and if we have a problem with an individuals behavior lets not take it to their genes.

Staying to MDH, I got an update in my application Status Finally.....

All my application statuses are now 'Application In Progress' and my 4th Priority Program : which is MDH-22905 Master Program in Intelligent Systems - Artificial Intelligence
I got SG:DA and MR:999

I know no1 really has an idea regarding the SGs and MRs but I am happy that atleast there has been some activity in my application and that all the needed documentation has been received,cuz if there would have been something missing etc I would have got a requirements not met or some other MR.

@Hatim any update on ur MRS and SGs?

@All

All who have applied to Jonkoping. I have called them yesterday and they have confirmed that 999 MR is the highest mark.

Beside that, you cannot change the priority now :(The only way to get your desired master higher in rank is to delete the upper programs.

And if you get the admission to more than one program, it goes automatically to a higher priority program, so we won't have the possibility to choose.

My advice to all, especially to those that changed their minds recently, to revise the application until it's not too late.

@Stas: I tried to contact my 1st-priority programme admissions today (Lund University) by phone and failed to reach them. Then I tried calling Studera - they put me to call queue, but I gave up after a 5-minute wait.

My conclusions:

1. It's a lot easier to contact my 1st priority programme admissions by e-mail;
2. The Swedish accent sounds sweet;
3. Studera.nu is spelled as “studeera-niu” 😊

These grades are used in the Grundskola (primary school) and the Gymnasium (secondary school):

MVG - Mycket väl godkänd (Passed with special distinction)

VG - Väl godkänd (Passed with distinction)

G - Godkänd (Passed)

IG - Icke godkänd (Fail) (Only in the gymnasium, which resembles grades 10-12. In mandatory school IG is represented by a “*”, or a EUM, Ej Uppnått Målen, Didn't achieve the goals.)

On university level the following standard grading scale has been defined:

VG - Väl godkänd (Passed with distinction)

G - Godkänd (Passed)

U - Underkänd (Fail)

@Nadir

When did your documents reached Studera ?

If the documents have reached on time, do give Studera a call to make-sure the documents have been scanned and sent to the universities, also confirm the same from any of the universities that you have applied.

As long as your documents have reached there on time and have also been scanned and sent-over to the universities there is nothing to worry-about things will eventually happen. My documents had reached there since 12th Feb and for around 2 months my app-status was ‘Not Processed’ until yesterday when the status changed to Application In Process

Hi everyone

As I mentioned, I had a message from Chalmers University that: "Your eligibility for this course is conditional. In order to take this course you must, no later than the roll call, fulfil all specific requirements for the course." And after some hours, the MR of my other priority which was at Chalmers University changed in: "Will be deleted"

Please answer the following questions if you know the answer:

1. When is the Roll Call?
2. How can I be informed about the missing fulfillments?
3. As my other priority will be deleted, does this mean that I am admitted in my first choice?

- Edit Comment

By: please on 20080410
at 16:25:20

@Please

1. Roll call is the start of the first semester of the program.
2. I would assume you'd just have to prove you graduated and have your bachelors degree.
3. I am a little skeptical about the message you and I both received. When I had two of my Swedish friends translate the Swedish version, they both agreed it said you have conditional acceptance. Yet the English version says your eligibility is conditional. This would make me think that IF* you are admitted it is on a conditional basis.

So while I did get the "Your eligibility for this course is conditional. In order to take this course you must, no later than the roll call, fulfil all specific requirements for the course." and would be happy as can be to take this as admission...the language used fore the English version makes it a bit unsure....

Does anyone else have some thoughts on this??

Dear Friends, I have applied to BTH directly , My application is rejected with the following msg.

Your application failed.

Main choice rejected because: Insufficient background in the subject area.

Alternative 1 rejected because: The MBA-programme demands proof of two years of working experience after you have finished your university degree. A CV is not enough! You must send recommendation letter or similar from your former employer stating for how long you were employed.

Alternative 2 rejected because: The MBA-programme demands proof of two years of working experience after you have finished your university degree. A CV is not enough! You must send recommendation letter or similar from your former employer stating for how long you were employed.

Now what should I do, should I send them recomadation letter or not....

@Khateeb

I would call them and see if it is possible for your to remedy the situation. They might tell you “ok, yea, send them in” or they might say “sorry the application period is over and these documents were required in your initial application.”

Now I do hope they are flexible with you, but I must say it is common knowledge that MBA programs require work experience AND reference letters from your employer for admission. Did you even include any reference/recommendation letters at all?

If you didn’t include any at all then I think you might be out of luck...but if, say, you included letters of recommendation from your old professors or school then you might be able to say that it wasn’t clear whom the letters were supposed to be from...even though like I said MBA programs ALWAYS have letters from the employer. But it might be a good excuse to save your “butt” so-to-say.

Good luck!

@TJS,

Why do you think that there is any max merit rating, which would guarantee you 100% chance of admission?

I think that not all universities has such rating at all, b/c for example I saw two more guys with the same merit rating as mine (SG=MA08, MR=200, VXU). I do not beleive that we all have absolutly the equal applications (score reports from univercity, work experiance, etc...).

I think, we can speak about max rating only after April, 29th when application procedure will be finished and they provide official outcome. Only after that moment they can tell that this term, for bla-bla university have been proceed YYY number of applications and max rating from those application was ZZZ.

Please, don't be panic about this merit rating 😊

Good lick to all!

Glad to see something changing in your applications, and do you mean you got a message like this?

Your eligibility for this course is conditional. In order to take this course you must, no later than the roll call, fulfil all specific requirements for the course.

If so, I think it means you're a senior student and have not hold the bachelor degree yet. So you are supposed to go to Sweden with your bachelor degree shown to the university when admitted. And no other specific requirements at all.

And I'm afraid it does not mean the scholarship.

@ TJS

I don't think that the message you received is a conditional acceptance I think it's just a message they send when they are processing your application form and see that you haven't been graduated yet.

In my case when Studera started to process my documents (when all my choices changed to "application in process" from "not processed") I received the exact message in all of my choices. After some time all of them were deleted!!!! And now that Chalmers has given me an SG and MR for one of my programs the message is back again!!!!

So I think this is a message that they give in our case.

Since I had received 8 of these messages (one for each program) you could be sure that the message is not a conditional acceptance.

- Edit Comment

By: aussie on 20080410
at 18:35:14

@Svr77

Oh, I'm not panicking at all...it was just out of curiosity that I emailed them.

And I'm sure there is a max merit rating...there is absolutely no way a program could assess hundreds of applicants without having some sort of structured rating system to filter out applicants that either meet or do not meet requirements, or do or do not merit entry. And yes, you are right about people with equal ratings not having the same background. But, say, for example they deem my work experience more suited to the program and give me 6 pts but only 4 for you, since your work was a little less of a match, and then gave you 6 pts for your degree and me 4 for my degree as it wasn't as good of a match to the program as yours. In that case we have different backgrounds but the same number of points..because they have a scale of merit for our supporting documents. So, I think understanding the merit rating would still let you know where you stand compared to the other applicants to the program.

So in my case at KTH I got a 38...well is that 38 out of 40..or 50...or 100. Depending on what the max is the implications of a 38 change drastically.

So if my merit is 38 out of 40 I rank %95 higher than other applicants because of how applicable my degree and work experience was to the program. They both highlight my ability to function in and complete the program successfully, which is what any graduate program looks at...merit = perceived ability to complete in the case of most of these universities

@TJS, Svr77

About MR, the values are quite different among different universities and even different programs in the same college, like CTH. Though got hundreds of samples from Chinese applicants, I just can't explain the meaning of those weird numbers.

But to KTH, I have a strong incline that the strange rates show kinda places in the list or something.

To LiU, it seems the numbers all applicants got is 999.

Applying for bachelor, they got the values like 17,25 or 14,50 and so forth, which is a number from 0 to 20.

I agree there should be some judgement system, but I am not sure whether the number shown on the website is in that system. Maybe the professors use one system to assess the mass of would-be students, however they don't show it to us.

Uhm, it does make sense, if the merit is 38 out of 40 or something. But I got the samples 21 - 47 now from all kinds of applicants all for KTH. So perhaps it's 38 out of 50.lol.

I was not laughing or smiling at any one Mr. It is your negative thought and nothing that how you took my message. Be positive dear. I never mind what you said it was your opinion but read your message again and again then think which kind of attitude you are showing. Dear it depends upon your thought, some people are optimist and some passimist so look at your own collar and decide. It is soooooo easy to critise for no reason which is exhibiting your country's culture (but why to blame country) sorry your own personal home environment.

We never get disheart and keep many options for future so i always suggest people to smile and don't worry TRY TRY TRY AND TRY HARD. If you deserve you will certainly get it so keep trying with smile. I dont think so i am wrong.

Are you sure that these messages are sent by studera instead of sent by the universities?

But let's think a little bit. If it works like that, what about the messages "Will be deleted"? Is studera also rejecting people?

Studera has to be concerned about the documents, if they are original, correctly stamped, complete, etc.

The rest is the university's job.

Hi guys!

I have been a big fan of this forum for long time :) Today I have something to share to you all. I'm the one among many who have applied for master program in Sweden this year.

I have been informed in my studera.nu page that "You have made a late application for this course/programme" in every programme I have applied for! I'm sure that I made my application before Febuary,15.

The things is last week I received message in my studera page saying that I am "unqualified" due to my application was not sufficiently supported by officially certified documentation. After I got the message, I sent email to Studera to ask that which documents are invalid and what actions I could do to support my application. I also told Studera that it is possible for studera to misunderstand that my documents are not original.

Then, 2 days after I wrote email to Studera my studera page changed my status from "unqualified" to "application in process".

But 2 days ago I have found new status in my studera page saying "not processed" with "you have made a late application!" I wrote email to ask Studera, but no respond. So that I sent email to my first choice program, and they wrote me back telling me that my transcript of record has not been sent directly from my university to Studera. That is why my application can not be processed further.

It's my fault! At first I asked my university to send my record directly to Studera. But after I called someone in Studera to make sure how should I send all document out and the answer was that "Send everything to Studera, Sort them in the same order as list. Put all documents in the same envelope", so that I asked my university to send my transcript to me instead. I just wanted to make sure that everything was in the same envelope (also thinking that it would help Studera to organize documents)

Another thing is that I didn't see any word in Studera page saying that transcript must be sent directly from university. I must have not read the instruction carefully.

Anyone has idea what should I do next? I guess there is nothing I can do now, except waiting for next year : (

Sorry if I make mess in this blog, as my post is kinda long. And sorry for my poor English T_T

Good luck to you all!

- Edit Comment

By: pim on 20080411
at 1:32:55

@pim

I'm sorry to hear about your situation. I myself really do wish they would allow everyone to send the transcripts in the same package, but say in a sealed envelope or some other way to verify it hasn't been tampered with. I really didn't like having my transcript getting there one time out of my hands, but sadly that's the way it is.

All is not lost, though your chances are slim for admission. Your application could still be assess and accepted if enough people don't take their offered spot in a given program. Otherwise, like you said, there is always next time around.

Anyway, I do wish you luck!

@Late applications

Applications that have been made in time within the first and the second round will be prioritized before late applications and late incoming documents from the first as well as from the second round.

Applicants with late applications and/or late documents will most probably be notified late April.

@TJS

The transcript I sent to Studera was in a sealed envelope. My university sent transcript to me with other documents in another big envelope. I didn't open that sealed envelope, I sorted it in the big envelope that I sent to Studera. (hope I'm not confusing you)

Thanks for your word. I feel better, even if I know I will need to wait for the next year. Or I will need to look for master programme in other countries.

Wish you all the best :)

@ ALL

Hello people. I discovered this post while trying to find out the meaning of MR (thanks google).

I just got some updates.

Stockholm University

1. SG: INT MR: 9 999 (Mkt., M. and Society.)

2. SG: INT MR: 9 997 (Int. Strategic M.)

Högskolan i Jönköping

6. SG: UTL MR: 959 (Innovation and B. Creation)

7. SG: UTL MR: 959 (Int. Comm.)

Still don't have a clue of the meaning...

Good luck to everybody!

I think you'd better contact to the university and studera.nu again and explain your situation. For communicating with studera.nu, making a phone call is a lot better. please don't just wait. Tel: 0046854551545

“don't give up without trying, that's too easy”

This site is quite helpful, but you'd better contact with the universities you've applied for and studera.nu when some problems occur. I hope you a good luck!

@Niazi

For me, that message you posted, 'Your eligibility for this course is conditional. In order to take this course you must, no later than the roll call, fulfil all specific requirements for the course', means that I must complete my degree project before departing for Sweden IF I get admitted. I am still working in my thesis and I must defend it before I ever get to Sweden, otherwise I'll be in big trouble!

In any other aspect, I do not think I am considered in disadvantage to other applicants.

I don't know what your situation might be, though.

@Kamran

I think you're being rather tactless sometimes, posting things that can be easily misinterpreted and that you probably didn't mean. I suggest you try looking at your own posts from other people's angles, then maybe you'll see why they reply to you the way they do. And no, I do not think they're being pessimistic, nor do I think I'm “showing my country's culture”. I insist, look at your message from other people's angles, before hitting the submit button.

@Gpwell

Selection group INT means “quantity and quality of previous academic studies” - I read it on the Swedish version of studera.

MR - merit rating, the mysterious number, nobody seems to know for sure what it means and how important it is. I just know that each university has a different maximum MR one can get. MR has something to do with our previous degrees.

to make some things clear - i didn't apply for International Strategic Management program, only for the Marketing, Management and Society, which is also my 1st priority, with MR 9999.

but anyway, i have no idea how important this 2 point difference would be even if we applied for the same courses. btw, you have the same MR with Licona 😊 don't want to make any forecasts yet, but the fact that i have received a MR means at least that they have checked my docs and everything is ok so far.

@Nadir Khan

If you're not from the EU, like most of us here, you need to get a student permit (or visa, as you wish to call it).

See the page correspondent to your country at <http://swedenabroad.com/> .

Basically the requirements are these:

- Being admitted in some university
- Having enough money to support you the whole of your studies (according to the embassy page for México, SEK 73,000.00 x 2 years = SEK 146,000.00 ~ 26,000 USD, give or take, because it's been fluctuating lately).

You must have all this money in a debit account in your name or you must have a grant/scholarship.

- If your studies last less than a year, medical insurance. If they last more than a year, you can apply for their social security, however, I think it's best if you have medical insurance for your arrival in case you slip on the ice when getting off the plane or on your way to register with their social security 😊

(all this info is interpreted from the Swedish Embassy page correspondent to México. The wording may change somewhat on other embassy pages)

It's been said, that we shouldn't be signing up until we get an answer from Studera.

I understand your concerns, I am too, but we should do thing step after step... and the next tep is 29th, April, until then... it's a waste of time (those we run the service also waste time by handling our application and then throwing it away... 😊)

One last comment on the visa stuff:

- 2 recent pictures, "passport size"
- Passport, original and two copies. The passport must not expire in less than 3 months from your estimated last day in Sweden.
- Application form from migrationsverket dot se
- The permit takes from 8 to 10 weeks
- It costs 1000 SEK
- Some documents require photocopies. DO read your Swedish Embassy page!

@William

I agree, I think we should wait for definite admission before clogging the housing queues

- Edit Comment

By: lanioe9 on 20080411
at 18:03:33

@All, William, Lanjoe9

You don't effect the housing queue by being on it...you earn credit days so once you do NEED to apply for housing you have a better chance at actually getting a place. Until you actually book your interest in a place it effects no one else on the system. Also, the housing queues for student housing are independent from those for the general public for MOST agencies. And for those looking in Stockholm the only one non-swedes can sign up for currently is SSSB.

- Edit Comment

By: TJS on 20080411
at 18:13:59

@William, Daria, TJS, LI and others

Signing up in a queue does no harm to those who are looking for housing right now. Check all the available information on housing at your uni's web page, there are often links and some useful info about accommodation. The situation could differ by uni and by city. For those, who plan to study in Stockholm, sign up in <http://www.sssb.se> - the chance to get a room in student buildings managed by sssb depends on how long you have been listed in their queue. That does not mean you have to sign up for a particular apartment or room - they just count the no. of days you are registered in their system.

@lanjoe9

regarding the visa, if you are from the USA (each country has a different policy so check with your local consulate) you MUST have insurance prepaid for the entire duration of your studies. This can, at times, prove difficult as most international insurance agencies will only insure for one year at a time and offer renewable coverage. Obviously it is important to check with your local consulate if you are coming from a country other than the USA, but for all of you out there from the USA just keep that in mind.

I was curious to as how you were handling the funding situation? All FAFSA?

I just emailed the consulate about how the proof of two years of funding for the visa might be handled...if showing you would be eligible for Federal Aid the whole time would be good enough. If not, since the max is $20500 for grad FAFSA, there would be a gap of about $6000 to hit the min of 7300SEK for the two years...

We'll have to keep in touch about that because I;m unsure how that's going to work for me as well. Especially considering that there is no tuition fee...I'm worried how I'll submit info on cost of living and so on...because everyone I've talked to in Stockholm said that the 7300SEK is FAR from enough to make it in that city. And its hard to gauge the costs without actually going through it..so I'm hoping FAFSA will just offer the max as I'm and independent and so on....I'd rather have more than I need and not use it than not enough.

@all

!!! IMPORTANT !!!

Soon (meaning in some weeks) I will close down these pages. But sooner (meaning in some days) I will close the comments.

I am slowly moving elsewhere with my blog, and I want to improve the communication as well. The discussions here have been more than welcome, but we all know that “blogorum” (blog+forum) is not the best way to handle this.

Therefore, I have created a Facebook Page.

You will need to create a Facebook account, but I can tell you that in case you will be accepted to a Swedish University, you will create one anyway since Swedish students generally keep in touch mainly through Facebook.

The other options, like Google/Yahoo/etc groups would have implied the same - to have a Google/Yahoo/etc account, but that would be worthless in the long run, and don't provide a community-like framework. Please believe that I tried finding the best option here.

So, just head on to the Facebook page, create a Facebook account (or log in if you have one) and then you can also “Become a Fan” of that Facebook page, which practically means you will subscribe to it (quick link from your profile, and ability to receive related notifications).

In good faith,
Andrei

@tuffy

I'm sorry to hear that. I was already aware that some people will not be keen to join Facebook, yet on the other hand nobody is keen to create a new account due to a discussion group and the Facebook page is by far more valuable than a Google Discussion Group.

BUT

If you mean no thread commenting and me creating another blog page every 3 weeks or so and reading through all the worries of everyone... and you call this "a better and faster medium", then I'm sorry to tell you I beg to differ.

I have a question that will open up old wound.

I have used DHL to send my documents. And DHL ended up saying “delivery has been set up. expect no further details” once the documents arrived in Stockholm, and when they were transferred to the Swedish Post Office to get delivered to Strömsund. I only got the real confirmation by SMS, due to signing up for phone confirmation.

Can you tell me what happened with other courier services? UPS, FedEx?
How did the tracking page let you know of your documents’ status? Delivery confirmation?

- Edit Comment

By: Andrei Neculau on 20080413
at 23:57:17

@ Andrei ... I used TnT service and my documents was received in Strömsund in 5 days. The online status was updated, but without the name of the recipient. I was able to call the local TnT office and get the confirmation and person name who received my documents.

@Kho ... I applied for the Masters in Information Systems program (my 6th choice)

PS: When will the posting on this page stop? I agree that this is a good forum, since it shows up when you do a google (it’s how I found it anyway)

Hello everone!

After receiving many many rubbish and confusing messages in studera, today they informed me that i have not been admitted for my 2nd and 5th choice and my application “will be deleted” but today (saturday) i received this message for my first choice: “Your eligibility for this course is conditional. In order to take this course you must, no later than the roll call, fulfil all specific requirements for the course.”

SG: INT08

Mr: 24

Anyway, i think this message has been sent to many people under their first choice and , although i haven` t call the university yet, i am sure that the university has not posted it...

Does any one know more about this?

Hello Every one!

ive applied to KTH and my documents is Under assessment...

ive recieved a message before that:-

You have indicated that you have applied for a course/programme at <http://www.studera.nu> before. Unfortunately, there is no record of your previous application in our system. You have to submit a new application package. If you fail to do this, your application will not be considered. (If you are currently studying at a Swedish university; Please send a Ladok transcript as well.) As the deadline was 1 February your application may be considered as a late application. Still, late applications will be considered for some programmes. This should all be sent to: University Studies in Sweden FE 1 SE-833 83 Stromsund, Sweden. Last date for submitting documents: March 15, 2008

Regarding this message ive been in SG –MAAU and MR 18....

Kindly tell me whats the reason behind...have my documents reached in time??...and what does this msg indicates, i mean the SG and MR....m i under process??

Hi everyone

I have also digits at below my Merit Rating. So I called university(jönköping) and I asked meaning of this number. My number is 636.

Here is the answer; If your all documents are suitable for Jönköping they take you a number between 1-1000. So 1 is the worst and 1000 is the best it's quite simple. So I asked mine which is 636. 636 means "second selection group". And aslo my SR is UTL. UTL means I am international master candidate.

Important Note: This information is only for Jönköping University. I don't know other universities numbering system. So best way to learn call the uni. It's the trustworthy method to learn.

Good Luck Everyone

The specific requirement is not fulfilled: Bachelor of Science degree (or equivalent) in an engineering subject or in computer science. Courses in computer science, computer engineering or electrical engineering of at least 90 credits, including thesis. Courses in mathematics of at least 30 credits or including calculus, linear algebra and transform methods.

i did got this message in one of the courses i applied for halmstad university and in the bottom come this one

Your messages/queries

* We regret to inform you that your application does not meet with the requirements for admission. - You do not fulfil the requirement of earlier studies at least up to a level corresponding to three years of study at a Swedish university, i e a Bachelor's degree equivalent to a Swedish Kandidatexamen (180 HE credits) from an internationally recognised university (according to Unesco). Hello Everybody,

I find one thing in terms of MR which is that each university has different point system.If v go through BTH for water sustainability ,are able to find 6 is max pnts. These 6 pnts v get through Accademic qualification ,Statement of purpose, & project work related to selected course, exp, etc...Some universities ask 2 reference letters too. So as far as the universities are concerned they give MR not only with academic basis but also the documents v submitted before the deadline. So dont get confused until the notification date May 8 if .

Aslam Alekum Qasim;
Each uni has different SG and MR rules.
KTH has 52 highest MR; Halmstd has 1300 highest MR;KI has 15 highest MR;Lund has 999 highest MR;Orebro has 999 highest MR and so on.
SG is also useful to predict something about your MR.
MR=999 with SG=DA means you have been accepted without any doubt.
MR=999 with SG=OS/PG etc means you have been considered as eligible candidate but decision has to be taken.
For example You applied to programme XYZ which has 10 places.
Admission committee found 15 candidates as eligible and assign them MR=999.

Here the final decision will be based on gender (some uni prefer female) and your previous academic background. If you have excellent academic record then other candidates, you will receive admission letter but in case you don't have a good academics then you will be asked to wait for 2nd round of admission and if any place is not accepted by admitted candidate then you will be offered that vacant seat.

Many people who got MR=999 but SG=DA have received admission letters from universities(although officially admissions will be announced on 8th) but SG=DA is a something very special case and DA stand for Direct Admission.

If you got OS at Uppsala then you will have to wait till 8th as I can't say anything about this selection groups just I can translate OS as "Eligible without merit based evaluation"

You should conclude from above facts about your selection group. Perform pray regularly and do pray for all of us too.

Here you can get better idea about MR of Lund university.
